DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1 – 4, drawn to a resonance-frequency measurement method, classified in class 324, subclass 76.51.
 - II. Claims 5 – 12, drawn to an information recording/reproducing device, classified in class 360, subclass 6.
 - III. Claims 12 – 14, drawn to an electric filter, classified in class 327, subclass 39.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because:
3. Group I is distinct from Group II because the resonance-frequency measurement may be useful in any information recording device, such as a hard drive, and is not limited to the information recording device of Group II.
4. Inventions of Group I and Group II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Group I makes no mention of filters and therefore does not require the particulars of Group III, such as the arrangement of notch filters.
5. Inventions of Group II and Group III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the filters of Group III are used in the information recording device of Group II, but the particulars of the filters, for example the number of notch filters and their respective cutoff frequencies, are not required by Group II.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 2858
